CONSTABLE SUES COUNTY FOR SALARY

Constable Tom Lynch has brought suit to compel the county auditor to issue him a warrant for $50, the salary allowed constables by the last county government act. Constables were formerly paid by the fee system, but the last legislature placed them on a salary basis, allowing constables in this townhisp $50 per month for work in criminal cases and fees in civil suits.

The auditor refuses to draw the warrant, claiming that it is a raise in salary which the constitution says can not be done during the term of office for which one is elected. If Mr. Lynch is successful all the constables will be placed on the salary basis. It is a hard question to settle as no one knows what the salary is under the fee system. The supreme court side stepped that question once, but a decision will be forthcoming this time. Attorney J. W. Preston is looking after Mr. Lynch's interests in the matter and thinks he will win.

If the court delcares in favor of the constables and justices, salaries will be as follows in this county: Justices in townships having a population of 500 and over $50 per month; in townships having less than 500, $25 per month, for criminal cases and usual fees in civil cases.

Constables, for all services rendered in criminal cases, shall receive $50 per month in townships having a population of 500 or more; in townships having less than 500, $25 per month. They also shall be allowed the usual fees in civil cases, and the usual $3 per day while attending court during the actual trial of the case, and the other perquisites heretofore allowed by law.

Applied For Franchise

Dr. A. E. Dickinson paid Cloverdale a visit last week and perfected the arrangements for getting a franchise through the streets of that town for his railroad to Lakeport. The Doctor thinks the project will be a success and intends to push it along as rapidly as possible.

UKIAH HIGH SCHOOL WILL CLOSE EARLY

The board of education has ordered the Ukiah high school to close on May 31 instead of the latter part of June as before intended. It was the opinion of the board that it was best for all concerned that the school should close May 31. The board expects the teachers to wind up the work by that time and thinks all the pupils can complete the course and receive their credits.

Killed a Big Bar

Charley Thomas and George McClendon killed a brown bear that weighed 400 pounds, last Saturday. The bear was scared up by Henry Singley, Bob Rawles, and Charley Lawson on the Weger ranch. The boys tried to drive the bear, by horseback, as best they could toward a place where a gun could be secured. Thomas and McClendon came forward with their rifles and his bearship was soon no more. Joel Starkey lifted across the "hoss pasture" shortly afterwards and pronounced the work "good."

According to Dr. McCowen the rainfall for last week was only .36 of an inch, making 47.34 inches for the season.

KILLS FATHER OVER DAUGHTER

Trouble Over a Young Girl Leads to Homicide Near Willits

Winifred Hopper shot and killed Leonard Berchtold last Sunday afternoon at about 5:30 o'clock. The shooting took place at the Berchtold house about four miles north of Willits on the road to Sherwood valley and was the windup of a quarrel regarding young Hopper's attentions to Annie, the seventeen year old daughter of Berchtold. The exact facts have not been learned as yet, but it is known that Hopper shot Berchtold twice. The first shot tore a great hole through the body above the stomach, and the second one blew the man's head all to pieces.

Constable Smith brought Hopper down and lodged him in jail here Tuesday afternoon. To a Dispatch reporter Hopper told the following story: He had been stopping there with the Berchtold family for about two years peeling bark or working on the ranch. On the Sunday prior to the killing Berchtold was away from the house a little ways and saw young Hopper kiss Annie. He immediately came down to the house and proceeded to whip the girl. He then turned around and cursed Hopper, told him he was going to kill him and started in the house after the gun. Hopper ran around the house and thought he heard the man walk out on the porch, and then entered the house. As he came into the sitting room Berchtold also came in from the other way with a gun in his hand.

Hopper then grabbed another gun that was there and shot Berchtold first. He said that Berchtold walked half way across the room toward him and that he fired again as he thought he had only dazed him. He said it was a question of being killed or kill the other fellow. He said if he had been three feet nearer Berchtold that he would have made an effort to grab the gun and wrest it from him. He also said he would have tried to run away but it was too far to the timber and he knew he would be shot in the back. The only thing to do was to defend himself.

The older girl Annie corroborates Hopper's story, but the young girl says that her father did not have a gun. After the killing, Hopper and Annie Berchtold hitched up a dart and started to town so that Hopper might give himself up. He met Constable Smith on the way in, however. He will be taken back to Willits today where the preliminary examination will be held.

The inquest was held Tuesday and the verdict was that Berchtold was murdered by Hopper. District Attorney Duncan attended the inquest to examine the witnesses and brought Annie Berchtold down to the county seat.

Berchtold was a native of Germany and was 41 years old. He leaves a wife and three children. Hopper is about 27 years old and was engaged to marry Annie. He has always borne a good reputation up to this time.

DR. W. N. MOORE NOW AT REST

Passes to Eternal Home After Months of Suffering

Dr. W. N. Moore died Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, after a lingering illness lasting for a period of over two years. The funeral will take place from the family residence this afternoon at 4 o'clock, under the auspices of the Eagles.

Dr. W.N. Moore was born in Lincoln county, Tennessee, May 9, 1858, and grew up to manhood in the sunny south. He was the son of Col. William Lawson Moore, the brave Confederate soldier who was killed at the battle of Murfreesboro. The Moore family was noted throughout Tennessee and Kentucky and came from a family of distinguished soldiers. Col. Wm. Moore, grandfather of Dr. W. N. Moore, was under General Jackson in the war of 1812 and in the Indian wars. Several generations of Moores were born on the old homestead that had been part of the Moore estate since 1820. Here Dr. Moore was born and brought up under those ideal influences of honor and chivalry. He was about 3 years old when the war came up, and lived through those trying scenes.

During the war the family was scattered, and Col. Moore was killed, and young Moore had to get out and hustle for himself. As a number of his relatives were noted physicians it was Will's ambition to become a physician and surgeon. He therefore entered a medical college and studied for awhile, and then got out and worked to make more money to go to school on. He studied pharmacy in the mean time, and went to Texas where he secured a position as prescription clerk in a country drug store and made enough money to complete his course in medicine at the Louisville Medical College. Upon leaving college he took a trip with a government surveying party through Arizona and Mexico, as surgeon for the party and had many adventures with the Indians, and pitched battles with wild cow boys. After completing this work he returned to Louisville and took up some more advanced work in surgery and was an interne in the Louisville City Hospital for two years.

In 1885 during the Cleveland administration he was appointed to the position of physician of the Round valley Indian reservation and came to California. He held the position there for five years, resigning in 1890 to take special work in Belle Veu Hospital, New York. After a year's study there he returned to Ukiah and began the practice of his profession here, which he attended to assiduously for fifteen years. He had a large and lucrative practice and was superintendent of the county hospital for many years. He was an excellent doctor and the night was never too dark or stormy for him to go, regardless of whether the call was from rich or poor. Many and many times did he devote his services to the poor free of charge. He was a man of high character and exalted ideals and was a perfect specimen of physical manhood and inspired hope at once in the patient. He had a genial, cheerful disposition, was a good story teller and a splendid conversationalist and after dinner talker. No man was ever held in higher esteem than Dr. Moore.

About two years ago his health began to fail, and he realized his condition and diagnosed it exactly, and told his family there was no hope. He was taken to eminent specialists and everything known to medical science was done in an effort to benefit him, but it was all of no avail. He dwindled away from 218 pounds to about 75 pounds before the end came. He suffered a great deal and death came as a relief. After death Dr. King made an examination of the brain and found a part of it dead—just as Dr. Moore had diagnosed himself two years ago, and had made diagrams showing the condition.

The sympathy of the entire community went out to Dr. Moore and his family during the long sick spell; and at the funeral this afternoon there will be many eyes dimmed with tears as they look upon that tenement of clay that had endured to so much suffering, while the man in full flush of life devoted his time to relieving suffering thousands.

Dr. Moore was married to Miss Caroline Eldred November 17, 1887, when in Round valley. She and three children—Lawson, Archibald, and Elizabeth, survive him. He also leaves a mother and a brother and sister, in southern California. The bereaved family and relatives have the heartfelt sympathy of the whole community in their deep sorrow.

A FRESNO MAN IS ARRESTED HERE

Jerome I. Lynch, recently of Willits, was arrested in this city last Monday morning by Chief of Police Bert Miller on a telegraphic dispatch from Fresno. Chief of Police Shaw came up Tuesday evening and took Lynch back Wednesday morning. The charge against Lynch is obtaining money under false pretenses.

Lynch is a newspaper writer of some ability and went up to Willits recently. While there he got out a patent on a new device for a typewritter which was expected to revolutionize the business. He came to this city last Sunday and was recognized by Will Moore who had just come up from Fresno. Moore told Bert Miller that Lynch was wanted by the authorities, so Miller wired the Fresno police who wired back to hold the man until the arrival of an officer.

When seen in jail by a reporter Lynch said that he had overdrawn his account about $40, but had expected that some money had been deposited to his credit by men that owed him. He expects to be able to straighten the matter out. After the officer left with Lynch a telegram came to not make the arrest. The case was dismissed.

Miss Bonnie Gaine Engaged

The engagement of Miss Bonnie Gaine to Mr. Carl J. Struby, of Alameda, has been announced, and the marriage will take place early in the fall. Miss Gaine is a Mendocino county girl and is the beautiful and accomplished daughter of W. R. Gaine, of Point Arena. She was educated in the Point Arena school and completed her work in the San Jose state normal school, graduating there with high honors.

She taught school successfully in this county for several years and then secured a position in the Alameda schools where her success has been marked. The groom is a popular business man of Alameda, and is to be congratulated upon securing such a beautiful prize.

DEMERRITT SUES TOWN OF UKIAH

Warren DeMerritt has brought suit against the town board of trustees for his salary, claiming that the ordinance under which his duties were transferred to the executive officer is unconstitutional. The statute prescribes the duties of the marshal and the ordinance fixed the salary, but as the salary of the marshal as fixed by the last ordinance is too small for the labor required of him by the statute it is claimed that the ordinance is unconstitutional.

He sues for the regular salary of the marshal, and if the ordinance fixing the salary is declared void Crowley will get $60 per month. Attorney John W. Preston is handling the case for DeMerritt. The case will be watched with considerable interest.

LAST DAY OF THE INSTITUTE

Most Successful Meeting in Mendocino County's History

The teachers' institute closed last Friday evening after listening to a very instructive address by President Wheeler, of the University of California.

Friday afternoon was devoted to winding up the work of the session. Superintendent Babcock told the teachers that the last $55 school was gone and that he hoped after July that there would be no more $60 schools, and asked the assistance of the teachers in the matter.

The committee on resolutions presented its report which was adopted. The usual resolutions of thanking the officers, the citizens, and all those that contributed to the success of the institute were adopted, and in addition thereto the following:

Resolved, that we recognize in our present Superintendent L. W. Babcock a man of great wisdom and force of character, and an educator of splendid attainment who has the happy faculty of arranging the work in a way to greatly benefit the schools;

Resolved, That the teachers hereby pledge our worthy school superintendent our earnest and hearty support during his term of office;

Resolved, That we, the teachers of Mendocino county, deplore the action of Governor James N. Gillett in vetoing the bill which provided that the teachers should be paid a yearly salary in lieu of the present system of payment. We believe a continuation of the present system of paying teachers will result in a gradual lowering of the standard of proficiency and thereby result in great injury to the pupils and schools.

Resolved, That the thanks of the institute be hereby extended to Senator J. B. Sanford, a former teacher of this county, for his able work on the Senate committee of education in behalf of advanced school legislation, and especially in behalf of the school salary bill. We also thank our assemblyman W. D. L. Held for the support he gave the measures.

Be it further resolved, That this institute hereby appeals to the coming legislature to again pass the bill providing for a yearly salary and we most respectfully request the Governor, during the interim, to investigate the matter, believing that his sense of justice and fairness will prompt him to sign such a measure should it again be presented to him.

Buying Mendocino Prunes

W. M. Cox has bought about 300 tons of prunes in the past week for San Francisco firms, which leaves very few prunes in the makret. Prunes are prunes this year, about $35 per ton being the price paid. E. J. Cassab was here during the week and purchased 177 tons of prunes from Hugh Cox and J. E. Holliday, paying $35 net per ton. The coming prunes crop will be very short and offers are being made to engage the coming crop for $75 per ton. This looks good to the farmers—if they can only get half a crop.

Will Try It Over Again

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Cleland celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their marriage last Saturday evening at York & Cleland's hall and invited in a number of close friends and relatives. They received many beautiful presents in china, and all had a splendid time. Refreshments were served and dancing and a general good time was the order of the evening. Sheriff Donohoe remarried the couple in his dry humorous way, and brought down the house.

At the Clerk's Office

During the month of April, Clerk McCowen issued twelve marriage licenses and collected $143.85 in fees. There were filed in the superior court during the month four probate, six civil, two divorce and one criminal case.

She had been [illegible] at the dinner table, as a dinner of very elaborate character was preceding the [illegible] It was difficult for her to leave her guests. She reached the hall, however, just as the singer's ample form was disappearing through the portiere.

"Ah, Mrs. Smith," the singer said. "Then I am in the right house? I was going out to tell my coachman we had made a mistake, else you would have been at the door to meet me."

The hostess looked as if she would like to speed her flight into the open but her guests were soon to arrive and she did not dare risk offending the star attraction at her biggest party of the season.

Some of the singers make it a condition that no other woman shall be engaged and no musicians of any kind without consulting them. A young hostess sent out cards to invite her friends to hear a great prima donna sing. Afterward she heard from her friends of all kinds of wonderful performers that she might also have engaged.

As the money question played no part in her plans the young woman began to engage them. By the time the night of the party arrived she had, in addition to the soprano, a band of choir boys who would look beautiful marching down her marble stairway, a band of Venetian gondoliers who would be charming [illegible] the entrance to the music room [illegible] "Lucia," a baritone who sang beautiful love songs in excellent French and a voice as soft as [illegible], a girl who could pound the piano with the best of the men [illegible] and a quartet that played antique music on near antique instruments.

The prima donna arrived and beheld in the artists' room this jobbed of musical entertainers. The hostess hurried in to greet her.

"But surely," the prima donna said, "you don't need me when you have so much for your guests?"

The singer was in earnest. She was perfectly willing to go home and lose her $3,000 fee rather than be part of such a musical vaudeville as the inexperienced hostess had planned. Out of gratitude because she consented to remain to make the party a success, the young matron sent the prima donna a diamond bracelet the next day.—New York Sun.

One of the old governors of the Carolinas was a man who had lived a farmer's life most of the time until he was elected, and his wife, having never seen a steamboat or a railroad and having no wish to test either one, refused to accompany her husband to the capital. When the governor reached his destination, he found that almost all the other officials were accompanied by their wives, and he sent an imperative message to his home to "fetch Melinda along." The lady telegraphed, "She's afraid even to look at the engine." The governor read the message and pondered for a few moments. At the end of that time he sent off the following: "Bill, you blindfold Melinda and hand her on to the train."

Relief From Rheumatic Pains

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Pelland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months. For sale by J. R. Mathews.

Hutchison & Roeder

Champ Clark's Letter.

A Vice Consul Learns a Thing or Two. The Laird of Skibo at Rainey to the Fore at A Misstatement Corrected.

[Special Washington Letter.]

UNDOUBTEDLY Mr. Ekstromer, Swedish vice consul at St. Louis, knows more than he did a short time ago. Really, with numerous "horrible examples" before his face, he ought to have known better from the start. Most folks have gumption enough not to monkey with a buzzsaw in motion under a full head of steam. But Ekstromer doesn't appear to understand that that is precisely what the present occupant of the White House is. So Mr. Ekstromer got his very suddenly and emphatically. Not only that, he stands to lose his office, for the president of the United States has an absolute right to declare any representative of a foreign government persona non grata. Washington sent Citizen Genet home and Cleveland did the same thing for Lord Sackville West because they meddled with our domestic affairs. True, Ekstromer is an American citizen as well as a Swedish vice consul; but, while he had a perfect right to write to President Roosevelt in his capacity as an American citizen protesting against the outrageous order of the postoffice department in the Lewis case—for it is outrageous—he ought to have learned from observation that the president brooks no opposition or criticism and that as he could not punish Ekstromer, a private citizen in the exercise of his rights, he could punish him as a Swedish vice consul, which he has done, and there you are, or, rather, there Ekstromer is—functus in officio, or, as General Benjamin Harrison wrote Warner Miller, "outside the breastworks." He will probably know better next time. If he doesn't, then it must be apparent that he is not an apt scholar in the school of adversity.

Biting Their Thumbs.

Alack and alas! The lord of Skibo castle has fallen afoul of the wielder in chief of the big stick and if he does not keep both optics skinned is liable—indeed, quite likely—to be clapped into the Ananias club or something equally bad. Andrew Carnegie made bold at the great peace powwow in New York to take issue with President Roosevelt, which is certainly a case of leze majesty and calls for condign punishment. Now Andy and Colonel Roosevelt bite their thumbs at each other as they pass by. Too bad that these palpitating patriots should come to the parting of the ways, for were they not cheek by jowl on the great and burning question of simplified spelling? On that subject they were

Two souls with but a single thought,
Two hearts that beat as one.

No doubt it was Andy who inveigled the president into issuing that celebrated order to the public printer which the congress turned down good and hard.

By the way, the dove of peace did not spread her wings to any considerable extent over that New York assemblage in the interests of peace. Two of the brethren came near to blows because one of them interjected the words "Hot air!" into the other's oration. The wind must have been in the wrong quarter. Good Dr. Bartholdt of St. Louis, who keeps a covetous eye constantly fixed on the Nobel peace prize and who always votes for every appropriation for war, was there, but he seems to have been in a pacific frame of mind. The doctor is for peace, but he also likes pie, and he knows full well that he would be divorced from the pie counter without ceremony and without delay should he vote against any appropriation for war recommended by his great peace loving friend in the White House.

A Strong Man.

Hon. Henry T. Rainey of Illinois has been doing some investigating into Panama canal matters on his own hook and finds that the arrangements for handling fresh meats are so slovenly as to make it seem probable that there will be an epidemic among the diggers of the big ditch. He remained on the isthmus eight days and as he went thither unheralded had a much better chance to ascertain the truth than did President Roosevelt or Uncle Joe's bunch of congressmen.

Rainey is an able man and is rapidly coming to the front in the house of representatives. He is a fine debater. Nature did much for him. He has a commanding presence and one of the clearest and most resonant voices I ever heard. His manner is deliberate, and he is an indefatigable student. He possesses the courage of his convictions and is not afraid to speak out in meeting.

During the last congress he made two remarkable speeches touching the practice of the American Watch company in selling its watches in foreign lands at a price much below what it sells them for to us Americans. His first speech on the subject was a veritable bombshell among the Republicans. They set one of their crack speakers, Mr. Boutell of Chicago, to answer him. Several of the smaller fry also took a shot at the big Illinoisan, but they never feazed him. Notwithstanding Brother Boutell's pleasing oratory and the answers of the others, Rainey held his position and in his second speech proved conclusively every charge and statement he made in the first speech.

In the debate on the ship subsidy among other things Rainey said:

Mr. Chairman, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. Pollard) propounded this question, looking over this direction, and said in substance, "Can any one explain why our merchant marine commenced to fade away from the seas about the year 1860, when prior to that time it had been such an important factor in commerce upon the high seas?"

The question is not a difficult one to answer. Prior to that time we had free raw material for ships, because prior to that time ships were built out of wood, and our forests were full of material free to anybody who wanted to take it. Early in the last century they commenced to roll iron in England, and as soon as they did that persons and firms engaged in that business in this country insisted upon a tariff against the rolled iron of England in order that they might continue hammering out iron until their establishments fell into decay.

They got a tariff that was exclusive, and they continued to hammer out iron until, in 1855, the first iron Cunarder plunged across the Atlantic ocean, and it became apparent at once that the ship of the future would be an iron ship. But our factories, protected by a protective tariff, had been hammering iron. They were not prepared to roll iron, and so, with our mountains full of iron ore, we were unprepared to build iron ships. For sixty years England had been rolling iron, and she commenced to build iron ships, and our supremacy upon the high seas commenced to fade away at once. It was on account of the fact that we had no free raw materials for ships. It was on account of the pernicious effect of the protective tariff. We are building today more wooden ships than any other nation in the world. We are building today more wooden ships than we ever built, but wooden ships are obsolete on all the seas of the world except in our coastwise trade, and these benevolent navigation laws, supplementing the high protective system of this country, exclude from competition with our own vessels the iron vessels owned by citizens of other nations. So, as a result of the fact that we were not prepared to roll iron in 1860 and that our navigation laws keep the iron ships of England from competing in our coastwise trade, we have in our coastwise trade a fleet of worthless vessels, wooden vessels nearly all of them, adding nothing to the commercial importance of this country and doing us no good in time of war.

Gillespie's Opinion.

Everybody familiar with Washington affairs knows that Texas has one of the strongest delegations in the house. One of the growing Texans is Oscar W. Gillespie. He is young, capable, courageous, industrious and aggressive. So far as I know, he is the only man that ever caught Hon. John Dalzell of Pennsylvania napping. Gillespie's resolutions of investigation into trust matters brought him into much prominence during the last congress. This dispatch shows that he knows how to use vigorous English:

Washington, April 13.—Representative Oscar W. Gillespie of Texas, a member of the house committee on banking and currency, speaking of the action of Secretary Cortelyou in coming to the aid of Wall street in its two recent flurries, said:

"If any other president except Roosevelt had turned the treasury over to Wall street as Secretary Cortelyou has done, it would be denounced from one end of the country to the other. Wall street is now claiming it wants the government to pay $175,000,000 government bonds, due July 1, on the ground that this will ease the money market.

"My deliberate prediction is that just as soon as the panic is past Wall street will demand that refunding bonds be issued; that this debt be not paid, but simply renewed. Of course the debt ought to be paid. With a surplus of $250,000,000 in the treasury this debt and all others ought to be paid. This surplus is ample enough to pay for the digging of the Panama canal as we proceed and when finished not owe one cent on it if Wall street would permit it.

"Instead of such a sensible plan we require the secretary of the treasury, as soon as he makes payments on the canal, to issue bonds to recover the money paid into the treasury.

"The Aldrich bill passed at the last session of congress turning over to the banks the customs receipts, as well as internal revenue receipts, as heretofore practiced, was at the demand of Wall street. This takes out of the hands of the government the control of the gold supply.

"They say we need no such control, because all of our money is upon a gold basis. This is true in theory, but not in fact. We have declared by statute for the gold standard, but have not provided any gold supply for meeting the gold obligations of the government, except the $150,000,000 to pay upon demand the $346,000,000 in greenbacks. But under the ruling of the secretary of the treasury, from Mr. Carlisle down, every silver dollar is redeemable on demand in gold, as well as every national bank note."

Nobody will have any difficulty in ascertaining what Gillespie is driving at. His statements are clear as crystal. He might have added that the treasury department has been run as an adjunct to Wall street for many years.

Some Queer History.

Homer sometimes nods. Ditto the editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Recently that paper contained this editorial paragraph:

The late Galusha A. Grow lacked only one vote of defeating Andrew Johnson for the vice presidential nomination in 1864. A better illustration of the tremendous importance of a single vote cannot be found in the annals.

That would indeed be a fine illustration of the "tremendous importance of a single vote" if it were true, which it is not. Nobody came within one vote of defeating Johnson. Hannibal Hamlin came nearest, and he fell short of Johnson's vote by fifty-five. Captain Thomas H. McKee in his book entitled "National Conventions and Platforms" says: "For vice president Andrew Johnson of Tennessee was nominated on the first ballot. The vote as first cast was: Johnson, 200; Hannibal Hamlin of Maine, 150; Daniel S. Dickinson of New York, 108, and sixty-one votes were scattered among seven others." But before the vote was declared many changes were reported, leaving the final vote thus: Johnson, 494; Dickinson, 17; Hamlin, 9.

James Gillespie Blaine in his "Twenty Years of Congress" says, "The ballot for vice president gave Johnson 200, Dickinson 113, Hamlin 145, General B. F. Butler 26, General L. H. Rousseau 21, with a few scattering votes."

These two accounts substantially agree, the differences being that Blaine gives Hamlin five votes less than McKee gives him and also gives the number of votes received by Butler and Rousseau. They both show, however, by the rule of exclusion that if Mr. Grow received any votes at all he appears anonymously in the "scattering" column.

That editorial squib appeared in the G.-D. April 4 or 5.

Strange to relate, on Friday, April 12, in an editorial in the Washington Post which bears all the earmarks of having been written by my brilliant friend, Mr. Eugene W. Newman, whose nom de plume is Savoyard and who is a walking encyclopedia of facts, occurs this sentence:

"Grow was the first Republican speaker and narrowly escaped the presidency when he very nearly beat Andy Johnson for the nomination for vice president in 1864."

Whether Savoyard simply reproduced the G.-D.'s idea as to how near Grow came to beating Johnson I do not know, but the dates of the two editorials seem to justify that conclusion. That's a small matter, however. Savoyard in that one sentence falls into still another error, and that is that Grow was the first Republican speaker. That is not true unless he means the first speaker elected by Republican votes, which would be true. General Nathaniel P. Banks of Massachusetts was the first Republican to be speaker. Banks was elected by a combination vote of Republicans and Know Nothings. In the house over which he presided there were 83 Democrats, 108 Republicans and 43 Americans or Know Nothings.

As to the G.-D.'s assertion that "a better illustration of the tremendous importance of a single vote cannot be found in the annals," let's see. One Andrew Jackson was elected major general of the Tennessee militia. Suppose he had not received that one vote. Then what? There would have been no victory for the Americans at New Orleans and no "Old Hickory" in the White House, and the history of America for twenty-five years, perhaps for all time, would have had a different reading. Of course the mistake of the G.-D. and the Washington Post is a small one, but it is well to be accurate even in writing editorials.

An Eye Opener For Stand Patters.

The shouting of the Republican captains in the Roosevelt-Foraker feud, the Roosevelt-Harriman feud and in other feuds in which Republican bigwigs are indulging has somewhat obscured the questions of tariff revision and reciprocity temporarily, but nevertheless and notwithstanding these questions, like the poor, we have with us always and will have until they are settled right. Even so stanch a stand patter as Hon. John Dalzell of Pittsburg is beginning to sit up and take notice. He recently stated that, while he could see no reason for revision of the tariff himself, there is such widespread demand for it that he supposed something in that line must be attempted just after the inauguration of a president March 4, 1909. Even that is a wonderful concession from Brother Dalzell.

The following dispatch may set other stand patters to studying the situation in a new light:

Chicago, April 13.—Tariff revision along the lines of reciprocity with Canada and the countries of South America was favorably discussed at the convention of the Millers' National federation today. An amendment to the pure food law requiring that the weight of each package of food product offered to the public be printed on the outside of the package was also favored. Yesterday the convention re-elected the twelve directors whose terms had expired. Today, however, this action was rescinded, and a number of new directors were chosen. This action was taken because it was held that the association might become unprogressive on account of the constant service of the same directors.

Now, the sort of revision which Mr. Dalzell and his coworkers would bring about would not scare the stand patters out of a year's growth. Quite the contrary, for his plan is to confine reciprocity to reciprocity in noncompeting articles, which is next to nothing, while the millers' convention mentioned in the foregoing dispatch is in favor of reciprocity in competing articles. So wags the world, and so are issues taking shape.

Bay State Politics.

The fact that ex-Governor William L. Douglas of Massachusetts has announced his willingness to accept a Democratic nomination for governor next fall undoubtedly indicates that he believes he can be elected, and his faith seems to be cheering the old Bay State Democrats amazingly. It will be remembered that in 1904, while Colonel Roosevelt carried Massachusetts by nearly 100,000 majority, Douglas carried it by about 30,000. In 1905 and 1906 he declined to be a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination. Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., who is now serving his second term and who is said to covet the Republican vice presidential nomination, will unquestionably be nominated for a third gubernatorial term, as that is the habit in Massachusetts. So that if Douglas and Guild make the race the prize will be not only the governorship, but a vice presidential nomination also, for if Douglas wins in the fall the chances are that he can have the Democratic vice presidential nomination by saying that he will accept it, and if Guild loses the governorship he will be out of the running for the vice presidential nomination.

BOONVILLE'S NEWS BUDGET

Boonville, May 13—There was something doing among the sheep shearing crews on the 6th, but the rain soon put a stop to the work; however, no one regretted it as rain was much needed for the grass, gardens, and late sown grain.

Maurice Prather and Calvin Ruddick have bought the stage line between Philo and Greenwood.

Last week a great many Italians passed through the valley on their way to Wendling and Greenwood, where they are taking the place of the Americans who quit work.

Mr. Van Zandt was in Boonville Thursday to meet the first of his summer boarders. We failed to hear the gentleman's name, but his face is quite familiar, as he has spent the last three or four summers at Van Zandt's, proving that they know how to entertain their guests.

Gus Wallach, who has been spending his vacation at his father's ranch in Bell valley, was thrown from a horse on Wednesday morning. He received several bad cuts on the head and one ear was nearly torn off. We hear it is nothing serious however, and Gus will soon be doing his share in the Athletics of the Ukiah high school.

Wayne, the seven year old son of Maurice Prather, fell from a wagon and broke his arm last week but under Dr. Diddle's care the little fellow is doing nicely.

The surveyors are still trying to get over the Fairbanks hill. Everyone is waiting for them to come through the valley as we think the railroad will soon follow.

Newt Orubaun has opened a butcher shop in Boonville. Newt is a hustler and we predict success for him.

C. P. McGimsey has opened a real estate office in Boonville. He knows a good thing when he sees it and is ready for the deals that will be made when the railroad comes.

Mr. Van Netta, a detective from San Francisco, spent the last few days at the Anderson valley hotel while in the valley looking up evidence for the contest between the L. E. White Lumber Co., and settlers on some of the timber claims. The sympathy of most of the people here is with the settlers but may the side which is right win.

Saturday night Mr. Johnson, of Philo gave a dance at his hall which was much enjoyed by those present. Mr. Johnson has done much for the entertainment of the young people this winter by giving dances frequently. People of Boonville and Wendling enjoyed the dance as well as those of Philo.

The baseball season opened at Philo yesterday by a game between Philo and Boonville at Philo. The result was a score of 10 to 12, in favor of Philo. The Boonville team will try to regain their lost laurels by a game with Philo at Boonville next Sunday.

NEWSY ITEMS FROM PHILO

Philo, May 13—The Boonville and Philo baseball teams crossed bats at the Philo ball grounds yesterday, with the result of the Boonville team being beaten by a score of 12 to 10.

This is the first game that the Philo team has played this season, in fact the first time the players ever played together. Of course you can't expect them to do as well as when they get more practice. We look for great things from them this season.

The Boonville team put up a hard fight and died hard. The game was hotly contested to the end but they could not overtake the Philo boys' score. Following is the lineup:

Philo		Boonville
C. Harrison	p.	James Hutsell
Geo. Clow	c.	Chas. Lawson
Ed. Lowney	1st b.	Horace Burger
Eagan	2nd b.	Fred Rawles
M. Prather	s. s.	Vernon Rawles
Guy Whipple	3rd b.	Chas. Wallach
E. Whipple	l. f.	M. Lawson
Marion Dutro	c. f.	Alex Willis
J. Peterson	r. f.	Den McGimsey

The undefeated Boonvills came,
The day was nice and clear
They had a pretty lively game,
And went home looking queer.

The ninth they thought they'd win out yet,
And hoped it would come true,
They jeered and yelled, and some did bet,
But they went home looking blue.

The Philo boys they hit them clever,
And run the bases well,
And when the game at last was over,
The Boonville boys said————.

"One of Them."

WOMEN PAY MORE

Why Insurance Companies Discriminate Against the Gentle Sex

If one is to believe the medical examiners the reason a woman pays more for the privilege of life insurance is that she is much more commonly a victim of indigestion and stomach troubles and the fatal ailments that spring from these causes.

It is not the acute attacks of disease that influence the insurance examiners alone, but the constant feelings of weakness, headache, indigestion and stomach troubles. These things, physicians say, kill more people than many of the serious diseases.

For curative power in all stomach troubles nothing else is as safe yet effective, nothing else can be so thoroughly relied upon to relieve all troubles of indigestion, as Mi-ona. It is unlike any remedy heretofore known; it is not a mere digestive tablet; it strengthens and restores to natural action the stomach and bowels and makes a complete cure in even the worst form of stomach troubles. —a—sell Mi-ona in 50 cent boxes under a guarantee to refund the money unless it does all that is claimed for it. POINT ARENA AND VICINITY

(From the Record.)

Albert Brown expects his sawmill to be running by the 20th instant. This mill will probably be the first of the five local mills to begin operations.

Mrs. Symonds is very sick at her home on Mill street, her condition at times alarming her friends. We hope to be able to report her recovery next week.

The town has been in darkness all week on account of the electric light plant being moved to the mill. Mr. Brown expects to have the juice turned on tonight or tomorrow night, when the patrons will be made glad.

Wm. Schneider came up from South San Francisco yesterday to meet old friends and acquaintances. He owns a large merchandise store in South San Francisco and is building up a good business and on the high road to prosperity.

Jenseius Thompson, died at his home near Fish Rock on Wednesday. His remains were brought to Point Arena and next day laid away in the Odd Fellow's cemetery. Deceased had lived at Fish Rock the last eighteen years and was well known on the lower end of the coast. He was a native of Holstein, Germany and about 52 years of age. Rev. D. Munro officiated at the grave.

Anybody who sells clothes can give you a suit that looks as nice as any one could possibly want.

You couldn't possibly ask for a better fit the day you buy it.

BUT, in nearly every case you would find that the suit would look as if you had slept in it after a week or two of wear.

The reason is that so many clothes are made to look nice and fit well by shrinking or stretching the cloths with a hot iron.

Especially the clothes that are made up with inferior trimmings, such as haircloth, canvas, stay-tape, etc., which is really the life and backbone of a suit of clothes.

And just here is the reason why you should buy your clothes at "The Toggery." We fully understand the business, and make a study of it, and are very careful in selecting the lines of clothing that we carry, to see that they are made up with the very best of trimmings, even at a little extra cost to us, so as to insure you a GOOD suit of clothes that will positively retain its shape.

We have the exclusive selling right for this vicinity, of the Hart, Schaffner & Marx all wool line of ready-to-wear clothes from $18.50 to $35.00.

Also the exclusive right for the celebrated Clothcraft brand of all wool clothes from $13.50 to $25.00

A LOAN REPAID.

The Fourth Earl Stanhope and the Gentlemanly Highwayman.

The fourth Earl Stanhope when on his way homeward late one dark night was held up by the most gentlemanly of highwaymen, who preferred his request for money or the nobleman's life in quite the nicest way. It happened that Lord Stanhope had not any money with him and was disinclined to yield the alternative.

"Your watch, then," suggested the gentleman at the opposite end of the pistol. That watch, the earl explained, was dear to him. He valued it at 100 guineas and would not surrender it. "What I will do," he said, "is to bring and deposit in this tree the worth of the watch in money, and you can call and get it tomorrow night."

"Done, m' lord," said the highwayman.

The law knew nothing about this arrangement, and the earl did as he had promised. He placed the 100 guineas where the highwayman might at his leisure collect it. And there, so far as he knew, the matter ended.

Years afterward he attended a great banquet in the city and found himself pleasantly entertained by an extremely well known man whose signature was good for a sum in several figures. Next day came to Lord Stanhope a letter inclosing the sum of 100 guineas. Accompanying it was a note begging his acceptance of a loan granted some years previously to the man who now forwarded it.

That loan, said the letter, had enabled the sender to gain a new start in life, to make a fortune and to renew acquaintance at dinner on the previous night with his lordship. The city magnate and the highwayman of earlier days were one and the same.—London Standard.

Diamonds In His Shoes.

Diamond ornaments in shoes hark back to the days of the Revolutionary war and were worn by merchants of Boston in those days. Thomas Russell of Charlestown, who died in 1796, was one of the most active of business men of his day in Boston and the first to engage in the American trade with Russia after the Revolution. His dress was typical of his time and is thus described in an old print: "He usually wore a coat of some light colored cloth, small clothes, diamond buckles at the knees and in the shoes, silk stockings, powdered hair and a cocked hat and in cold weather a scarlet cloak."—Boston Herald.

A Sly Thrust.

Miss Ann Teek—Really, some of the young girls nowadays are positively awful. The idea of a girl being engaged to two young men at the same time! It's just shameful! Miss Cutting—Besides, you find it aggravating also, don't you?—Philadelphia Press.

BRONCHIAL TROUBLES

Readily Yield to Soothing Healing Treatment of Hyomei

Bronchial troubles are purely local. They cannot be helped by stomach dosing. They are caused by irritation in the air passages and can be relieved and cured by medicated air alone. In this lies the secret of the great success of Hy-o-mei in the treatment of bronchial troubles.

The first breath of Hy-o-mei's medicated air soothes the inflammation, stops the cough, and relief soon becomes permanent and a cure results.

Hy-o-mei has made many remarkable cures in the worst and most chronic forms of bronchial troubles and is sold by —a— with the same guarantee as —c— give when Hyomei is purchased for catarrh, that is, to refund the money in case the remedy does not give satisfaction. The complete outfit costs but $100. Sold by J. R. Mathews, Ukiah, Cal.

To the Public

I have resumed the practice of my profession at Ukiah, and may be found at my office at 213 Standley street, corner of Oak, on and after Monday, May 28th, 1906, prepared to perform any and all operations appertaining to dentistry.

Respectfully,

IMPURE FOODS.

Tricks of the Trades Recorded by a Diarist of 1783.

"The pure food question is as old," said an antiquary, "as the hills."

He took down a volume bound in gray calf.

"This is the diary," he said, "of Heinrich Cruger, born in Amsterdam in 1722; died in New York in 1870. Listen to the pure food kick that Henry put up in 1783."

The antiquary read:

"Monday, 18th October—If I would drink water I must quaff the mawkish contents of a cursed open aqueduct, exposed to all manner of defilement and impregnated with all the filth of the town.

"As for the intoxicating potion sold as wine, it is a vile, unpalatable and pernicious sophistication, balderdashed with cider, corn-spirit and the juice of aloes.

"The bread is a deleterious paste, mixed up with chalk, alum and bone ashes, insipid to the taste and destructive to the constitution.

"The table beer, guiltless of hops or malt, is vapid and nauseous. The tallowy, rancid mass called butter is manufactured of candle grease and kitchen stuff. The fresh eggs were fresh once.

"The greens are boiled with brass halfpence in order to improve their color, while the pickles, though very inviting to the eye, are often insupportably rank to the taste, the reason being that in their case also the housewife has boiled a shilling's worth or two of halfpence or a pound brass weight in the vinegar."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

THE MORNING WAKING.

Getting Up Exercises That Will Put the Brain In Order.

The difficulty most people experience in getting up in the morning can be easily overcome by a simple operation, according to a medical authority. After the night's long rest the brain is laden with somewhat impure blood, and the lymph vessels which remove waste matter are overfull and sluggish. This is why we all crave another ten minutes in bed and why most people are so morose at breakfast. Very slowly the brain gets rid of the matters which interfere with its vigorous action, but the process can be expedited.

If the finger tips are placed against the neck just under the ear and moved swiftly down to the front of the shoulder along the course of the jugular vein, the used up blood is drawn away and room left for a fresh supply. This should be done twice at each side of the neck. Then the hands should be placed on the back of the neck just under the skull and moved downward as far as possible. This clears out the lymph vessels and effectually prevents swollen glands, from which so many people suffer.

After two brisk rubs of the lymph vessels return to the jugular veins and then back to the glands, half a dozen or eight times, until the operation will be found far better than a cup of coffee, and, whenever the brain is dull through congestion this massage will be equally effective.—Pearson's.

Miss, Mrs. and Mistress.

"Miss" is an abbreviation of "mistress," which, as an English law dictionary explains, is the proper style of the wife of an esquire or a gentleman. By Dr. Johnson's time it had become "the term of honor to a young girl." In the earliest part of the eighteenth century, however, it was used respectfully of girls below the age of ten alone. After that age "miss" was rude, implying giddiness of behavior. In Smollett's writings an unmarried woman of mature years and her maid are both "Mrs." It is certain that "miss" has grown older, so to speak, while "master" has become confined to boys.

Danger In Linoleum Making.

In the manufacture of linoleum no unprotected lights are allowed in the mixing department. This is on account of the great danger of exploding the cork dust floating in the air. An additional danger in linoleum making is that the mixture of cement and cork dust has the unpleasant property of spontaneously igniting if left in a warm place. It is therefore customary to mix the material a sackful at a time in order to reduce the risks of an explosion.

A Figure of Speech.

"Dad," inquired Freddy, "what is a 'figure of speech?'"

"Where's your mother?" asked dad cautiously.

"She's downstairs," answered the boy.

"Well, then," began dad, "a figure of speech, my son, is a woman."—Harper's Weekly.

The Spleen.

The spleen? Up to 1900 no physician dared to stand up in a clinic and tell what it was made for. For ages it was supposed to be the organ of irascibility. "Oh, his spleen is up!" meant that the old man was hot in the collar. Curious thing, that spleen. There is a herb called "spleenwort," which was supposed to remove such splenetic disorders as ill humor, melancholy and irritability. I saw a spleen the other day for the first time and was astounded. It was a soft, highly vascular, plum colored thing with a smooth surface. It was nearly six inches in length and weighed seven ounces. Now here is the funny feature of the spleen: After a hearty meal it is very much smaller than at other times, which may help to explain why a man is good natured after dinner. In diseased conditions the spleen may reach a weight of eighteen or twenty pounds.—New York Press.

Zephyr, Cipher and Zero.

"Zephyr" and "cipher" and "zero" are words that come to the English from the Arabic "sifr," which meant literally "empty" and so "nothing" and the figure that represents nothing. In mediaeval Latin this figure was called both "ciphra" and "zephyrum," the latter probably from association with "zephyrus" or something even lighter than air; hence through the Italian "zefiro" there is the word "zero" as a doublet with "cipher."

Run In Series.

"And is this to be your last tour of America?" asked the reporter.

"I hope not," answered the mature star of the dramatic world.

"But it's advertised as a 'farewell.'"

"Yes, a mere farewell. It's not a farewell farewell, you may notice."—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE SAN FRANCISCO STRIKE

The condition of affairs in San Francisco is too bad. Poor San Francisco has had more than her share of hard luck. The [illegible] and the officials of the United Railroads should get together and settle the strike at once. The [illegible] in the matter. The welfare of the city and the [illegible] demand that the strike be settled. [illegible] a condition [illegible] of a national arbitration law similar to the New Zealand system. A strike always injures the laborers and some parties are concerned. The employer, the employee, and the public. In this strike of today the public is the party most injured, and if some [illegible] not done thousands of merchants will be financially ruined.

One thing labor should learn and that is it cannot win in a contest of this kind without the support of the public. A report to arms [illegible] always injures the cause of labor and those that are opposed to giving labor a square deal always lay at labor's door all the evils of violence and try to prejudice the public against the cause.

For that reason labor should be very careful to see that none of their ranks are law breakers. If the car men do not want to work they have the right to quit, but they have no right to destroy another's property or prevent others from work. All know that the striking man at least has a hard time of it and the public generally sympathizes in any honorable way he tries to better his condition. In order to succeed he must have the support of the public, and San Francisco is likely to lose patience with both parties to the contest if something is done to settle the difference. The [illegible] has had enough to suffer and there is no time to see which side was good out the longest. Let every one [illegible] sanitarium for treatment. She is in very poor health.

IMPORTANT JOTTINGS FROM WILLITS

Willits, May 15.—General Freight agent J. J. Coleman, of the Santa Fe was here last week looking about to get lumber for his road. He was taken out to the proposed saw mill by H. E. Muir and shown the advantages of having the Fort Bragg road extended to Willits thereby enabling lumber to be shipped direct east by rail instead of half way by water. He was much impressed with the proposition and promises to take that matter up with his company at once.

Martin Exley while painting a house Monday afternoon, fell and stuck a big sliver in his thigh. It was a very painful wound.

WILLARD IS GRANTED FIFTEEN DAY REPRIEVE

Last Wednesday Governor Gillett granted Frank Willard, the murderer of Orland Leach, a reprieve of fifteen days. Willard was to have been hanged yesterday, the 14th, but a stay of execution was granted to give the attorney of the doomed man time to present additional evidence of the insanity of the prisoner. Ever since his incarceration Willard's relatives, especially his sister, Mrs. Frank Tindall, have made repeated efforts to save him from death. Mrs. Tindall has written earnest appeals to the Governor. She states that Willard was injured in a runaway when a boy and that since that time he has been out of his head, and that he frequently committed acts of violence in the insane asylum. Rev. M. J. Walsh, a Catholic priest, has also aided in the effort to save Willard. Governor Gillett in refusing the Governor that Willard was one of the worst criminals in the state and should have no mercy. If nothing else comes up to defeat justice then Willard will hang on May 21st.

To Cut County Wood

The board of supervisors have decided to put all the county boarders to work chopping wood for the county. The wood question is getting to be quite a problem and the supervisors thought the criminal element might as well earn their "board and keep." So the bunch will be put to work at once. Since the order has gone out everyone of the "birds" has complained of being sick and has sent for Dr. Littenfield. The Doc is on to his job however, and will soon put them in condition to wield the ax.

Little One Called

The Angel of Death visited the home of Daniel R. Drewery near Hopland last week and choose for his own the dearly beloved little baby.

And thy loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God who has bereft us
He can all our sorrows heal.

The Lord had need of one more jewel. We deeply sympathize with the heart broken mother and father.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, of Cloverdale, accidentally shot himself in the leg last Monday while handling a pistol.

BOUNDARY CASE SETTLED AT LAST

The supreme court has handed down a decision affirming the decision of the lower court in the Mendocino Trinity boundary case. It will be remembered that Judge Ellison of Tehama rendered a decision in favor of Trinity county, fixing the Fauntleroy line as the boundary line. The case was appealed and the supreme court has affirmed the decision of the lower court, so Mendocino county loses the narrow strip of territory.

Majestic Theatre Company

Rhoads and Thomson's Majestic Theater Company which is scheduled to open an all week engagement at York & Cleland's hall, Monday evening, is properly termed the company of quality as it is the premier theatrical organization now appearing on the coast. Every city visited has enthusiastically endorsed the players and productions offered by Messrs. Rhoads and Thomson by crowding the theatres at every performance and eagerly requesting an early return visit. Success of this kind is an open approval demonstrating that the public will liberally support something more than the trifling mediocre.

The company includes such well known people as Miss Helena Griffin, the famous three Kelcey Sisters, Kernan Cripps, Chester Stevens, Eddie Mitchell Carlos Case, Olaf Skavlin and Mr. McDowell.

The repertoire to be presented is as follows: Monday, "The Senator's Daughter;" Tuesday, "A Woman's Revenge;" Wednesday, "My Sweetheart;" Thursday, "The Fatal Scar;" Friday, "A Bachelor Girl;" Saturday evening, "A Texas Ranger;" and Saturday afternoon matinee, "Chums."

Much interest is already manifested as the enquiry for seats has been unusually large for a strange company. Seats are now on sale at York & Cleland's place of business. Prices, 15, 25, and 35 cents.

The "Dawg,, Case

Attorney J. W. Preston and A. J. Thatcher went to Sacramento this week to argue the "dog tax" case before the district court of appeals. Mr. Thatcher is the city attorney and represents the town while Mr. Preston represents Walter Ackerman, who was arrested for not paying the license.

PLEA OF GUILTY ENTERED BY RUEF

After enumerating every technicality known to the law, Abe Ruef, the erstwhile political boss of San Francisco has entered a plea of "guilty" to the charge of extorting money from the French restaurants on pain of having their liquor licenses revoked. All too seemed to expect such a sudden turn in the case, and the news caused many a grafter to sit up and take notice. Ruef had fought the case as long as there was a chance to stave off the trial. The evidence was overwhelming against him and Ruef realized that he was up against it strong. He also saw that Calhoun, Schmitz and Herrin had decided to make him the scapegoat and thus try to get clear themselves. So Ruef's change of base has thrown the grafters into a state of consternation. The query is "If Ruef is guilty, so is Schmitz and Calhoun, Herrin, Glass and all of the others." Big guns.

Ruef was pale as death and his every move showed that he had been undergoing great mental agony during this trying ordeal. His address to the court in pleading guilty is a remarkable one, as there is much to be read between the lines. He said that he was not guilty, but that his health and the health of those who were near and dear to him was such that he could not stand the ordeal of a trial and for that reason he would plead "guilty."

He wanted an opportunity to restore himself in the confidence of the public and would do all in his power to overthrow the graft system in San Francisco. He hoped to accomplish some good.

That looks like Ruef had gone over to Burns. Heney and Langdon and will "come through" with the whole thing and lay every thing bare. If so, Calhoun, Herrin, Schmitz are hang up against it hard. Heney has broken the backbone and many a grafter is spending sleepless nights. The way to stop graft is to remove the temptation out out the cancer, and if officials are not tempted they will not become corrupt.

Will Carothers returned from the city last Sunday, where he had been working in a cigar store. The strike put a stop to business generally and the cigar man had to lay off most of his help, so Willie came home. He expects to return when normal conditions are resumed.

BASEBALL SEASON OPENS SUNDAY

The baseball season will open in this city next Sunday, May 19th, and the fans are looking forward to the day with much interest. The boys have gotten together quite an aggregation of ball tossers and think they will put up a game that will make one to "rain his knife." The grounds have been put in excellent condition and a big crowd should turn out to lend eclat to the occasion. Go down and "holler your heads off" for Ukiah. There will be music by the band and then Mayor Weldon will get on the slab and throw the first duplex curve over the rubber, and set the game going. It's going to be a great game and all lovers of the national pastime should be there at the opening—2:30 p. m.

The Promotion Examinations

The board of education has been busy this week preparing the questions for the grammar schools. The examination begins June 3, and this will be the last year the graduation will be given in two parts—the fall and spring. In lieu of the former plan an examination will be given the seventh grade each June for promotion to the eighth grade and will cover the entire school work up to that point. The work of the eighth grade will be confined strictly to the work of that year. It is expected that the new plan will inspire the seventh graders to do better work and at the same time permit of a more thorough drill on the eighth grade studies, thereby better fitting the pupils for high school work.

THE RAILROAD WILL BE EXTENDED

Willits, Cal., May, 15—W. C. Edes, chief engineer of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, and Paul Riceker, who will have charge of a surveying crew arrived here yesterday. Mr. Edes will leave for Eureka by private conveyance and inspect the proposed route and select the camps.

John Patton sold his candy store this week to Will Hurd and Robert Patton, both of Bachelor valley, Lake county. Mr. Hurd and wife will run the business. They took possession yesterday and are getting initiated into the business quite rapidly. Mr. Patton and wife will remain until next week before taking their departure. They have not decided just where they will locate but will go south, stopping at Santa Rosa, and San Jose to visit relatives and friends. They will then go on to Santa Cruz, and may locate there as Mrs. Patton has relatives there. Ukiah will be sorry to lose the Pattons as they are excellent people and made many friends during their stay here.
